

CHILD'S WOODEN DESK AND SEPARATE CHAIR

This sturdy, old school desk is, naturally, used and bears the marks one would expect from such an item. It is now quite a collectable item and also a functional one, providing a child with an excellent storage facility as well as a drawing, working and reading surface. It is suitable for a child from the age of five to eleven, although parents of younger children in particular need to be aware that the hinged desk top is very heavy and its closure is not dampened. There is a hole in the desk top for an ink well and a large pot one can be obtained if desired.
